LOCAL LAND SERVICES NOW JUST A CLICK AWAY

Minister for Primary Industries, Katrina Hodgkinson, today launched the Local Land Services (LLS) website – www.lls.nsw.gov.au.

“This website delivers on the NSW Government’s promise to put the customer at the centre of the LLS business,” Ms Hodgkinson said.

“The site replaces the previous Catchment Management Authorities and Livestock Health and Pest Authority sites, bringing LLS business to one easy-to-navigate point.

“This site has been many months in the making, providing a single port of call for information and services provided by LLS, while offering tailored information for each region as a gateway to regional pages.

“At www.lls.nsw.gov.au users can enrol to vote, identify their local office, staff and for the first time will be able to pay their rates in the future.

“The new online home for LLS provides both State-wide and regionally specific information, and has been tested by farmers and land managers prior to launch to ensure the website is user friendly.

“The strength of the LLS website is its focus on each of the regions, providing locally relevant updates, information and publications regarding agricultural advice, plant and animal pest control and biosecurity, natural resource management and emergency management.”

Ms Hodgkinson said LLS is now just weeks away from formally commencing.

“This new organisation will usher in a new era of regional service delivery in NSW,” Ms Hodgkinson said.

“An enormous amount of work has gone into the establishment of LLS and ensuring a new, customer responsive and energetic culture.”

Chair of the LLS Board of Chairs, John Macarthur-Stanham, said information on the recently announced LLS board elections including nominations for board member positions and the process of enrolling to vote is available on the website.

“The website is a stand-out example of web design coupling the latest developments in information delivery and business operations,” he said.

The launch of the LLS website is another critical step towards the organisation becoming operational in January 2014.
