

More places to find your favourite fish!

Fish love places to hide, feed and breed. Placing artificial reefs on the sea floor provides new places where many different fish species can be found.

Placing man-made fish homes (known as habitat or artificial reefs) on the ocean floor provides only the skeleton for new fish life. The ocean does the rest!

There are many types of artificial reefs all around us. Man made stuff we see everyday like bridges, jetties and rock walls in estuaries (rivers) all provide great habitat for fish!

*Check out the sea life who have already made this artificial reef their new home!
Draw in some friends who might like to live here too!*
