

Moving poultry into and within NSW

December 2014, Primefact 954 second edition

Johanne Taylor, Regulatory Officer, Biosecurity Compliance Orange

All poultry, including commercial and pet poultry, must meet the movement requirements. Poultry includes chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese, quail and guinea fowl.

Moving poultry into or within NSW

There are no restrictions on the movement of poultry into or within NSW.

Fodder from any other state

Plant material may be restricted from entering NSW.

Phone (02) 6391 3384 for information.

Sick poultry

You should not transport sick birds. Contact your private veterinarian or Local Lands Services for advice.

Animal Welfare

You must follow the Land Transport of Livestock Standards when transporting poultry.

Keeping poultry in NSW

Property Identification Codes (PIC)

Every property that has more than 100 poultry (or more than 10 emus or ostriches) must have a PIC.

What the community and neighbours think

Your local council may not let you keep poultry.

You should discuss owning poultry with your neighbours before buying them. Noisy roosters, for example, are a common reason for neighbour disputes.
